Fall 2020

Dear Parents:

We are writing to tell you about the College Now Program, an exciting educational opportunity at John Dewey is decision to enroll in this program will make the transition from high school to college an easier one and allow your child to potentially earn up to 12 college credits, free of any costs.

Juniors and seniors eligible to enroll in College Now will have the opportunity to take college credit courses offered at your high school. For the Fall 2020 semester, all courses will be offered online. Some courses offered are in such areas as Business, Behavioral Social Sciences, Humanities, Mass Media, Political Science, ESL, Math, as well as classes in college and career planning.

In addition, courses in Culinary Arts and Psychology are offered at Kingsborough Community College (see link - <https://www.kbcc.cuny.edu/collegenow/weekend.html>.) Credit courses are transferrable to most colleges in the United States whether taken at the high school or college. All courses are free of tuition, registration and book costs. With the cost of a college education soaring, this is an opportunity not to be missed.

Over 250,000 New York City high school students have joined COLLEGE NOW since it began in 1984. Research has found that COLLEGE NOW alumni, when attending college, have a higher retention rate, require less remediation and graduate at higher rates than non-participating students.

With your help, your child can become another one of our success stories. I urge you to contact the Program Coordinator, Mr. Jeff Simon OR Ms. Linda Mazzola, at your school to learn more about registering for the program.

We look forward to welcoming your child into the program.
